Question 1

Read the passage below and answer the questions which follow.

Dinah was nine years old. Every afternoon, she passed by a shop on her way back home from school. She enjoyed looking at the toys on display. There were enormous teddy bears, pandas, shiny toy cars and dolls. Whenever she would look at the dolls in beautiful dresses, she would think about Tiara. Tiara was a small doll, the only toy she had.

When she returned home every day, Dinah played with Tiara. Tiara did not have many clothes except for a dirty, torn dress. No one liked to play with her. However, Dinah loved Tiara very much and always took her everywhere she went – on walks, to the kitchen and even to bed.

One day, when Dinah was in her bedroom, her elder brother Shawn heard her talking to Tiara: “Tiara, I know you want new clothes, but I can’t buy anything right now. I promise to buy new dresses for you when I start working.” Shawn had been learning to sew at school. That evening, he looked for some cloth at home and started making some dresses for the doll in secret.

One Saturday morning, Shawn went to Dinah’s room with a small box with “Dinah” written on it. When she opened the box, she found five tiny dresses in different colours – blue, yellow, pink, purple and red.

“Did you make these?” Dinah asked, her eyes wide with surprise.

Shawn nodded. “I sewed dresses for Tiara because I want you to be happy. You take such good care of her.”

Dinah gave her brother a big hug. She dressed Tiara in each dress one by one and showed them to her parents with pride. She was overjoyed as Tiara had new dresses.
