

*Let the mind manage the body
Que l'esprit gère le corps*

MAURITIUS
EXAMINATIONS SYNDICATE

PSAC 2025
Urdu (P160)

EXAMINERS' REPORT

Introduction

This report presents an analytical overview of students' performance in the PSAC assessment 2025. It evaluates learners' achievements across different competencies and highlights areas that require pedagogical intervention. The assessment question paper was designed to assess cognitive abilities while keeping students' interests, aptitude, and learning levels in consideration.

The performance of high achievers reflected a strong grasp of concepts. Average learners also displayed a fair level of understanding. However, the achievement level of slow learners, particularly in language acquisition, remains a serious concern. This indicates the need for revisiting instructional strategies and reinforcing effective teaching methodologies. A detailed, question-wise analysis is provided below.

Question No. 1A

This question assessed knowledge of basic common words in Urdu. It was observed that several candidates used generic terms instead of the expected specific vocabulary. For instance, words such as jaanvar (جانور) and savaree (سواری) were written in place of Choocha (چوہا) and Kashti (کشتی). Similarly, some students wrote film instead of Qalam, they confused ف with ق. The wrong use of alphabet changed the whole meaning, thus students lost marks. Students had difficulty to write چھتری they wrote - چھتری. Some students also had difficulty to write simple words like darvaza, and chooha. They wrote دوازہ، چوہا

Teachers are therefore advised to strengthen students' vocabulary through the regular use of visual aids such as charts, flashcards, and picture-based activities to support long-term retention.

Question No. 1B

This question assessed students' comprehension by requiring them to match pictures with appropriate sentences. Overall performance was satisfactory, with a significant percentage of candidates securing full marks. This indicates an acceptable level of understanding.

To further enhance performance, teachers should emphasize speaking activities and interactive classroom practices to improve students' familiarity with sentence structures and contextual usage.

Question No. 2A

This question evaluated grammatical knowledge through a range of items involving semantics, syntax, and phonetics. Performance in this section was below expectations, as only a limited number of students were able to score full marks. Several candidates struggled with basic grammatical constructions.

Common errors included incorrect question words, misuse of words پر and میں in item 6.

Parinda eik shaakh par baiTha hai. Its not mein.

Ustaad bahat khush hain kyunke talha mehnati hain.

In this item many students struggled to get the right answer, thus these mistakes highlight insufficient mastery of fundamental grammar rules.

Ustaad ne eik khoobsurat ghar banaya.

Teachers are encouraged to focus extensively on drill exercises and provide focused practice on verb usage, particularly transitive and intransitive forms and the correct application of ne (نے).

Question No. 2B

This section tested vocabulary usage. It was noted that many candidates performed well. A few students struggled with word recognition, often selecting incorrect options without fully understanding the text.

To address this issue, teachers should prioritize vocabulary enrichment through repeated exposure, contextual usage, and regular practice exercises that help learners differentiate between similar words.

Question No. 3

The reading comprehension passage was simple and required students to locate answers directly from the text. Most candidates demonstrated adequate comprehension skills, resulting in a satisfactory overall performance. This suggests that students possess the ability to understand straightforward passages.

However, there are candidates who faced difficulty in responding appropriately. Educators are advised to incorporate reading strategies such as guided reading, reading aloud, and explanation of key ideas to foster better comprehension skills.

Question No. 4

This question was based on a short narrative passage designed to assess comprehension and analytical thinking. While bright students performed well and provided appropriate responses, average learners often gave incomplete answers despite understanding the content.

Students should be urged not to randomly copy the portion of the text where the solution is located. They must carefully choose the information for their answers and provide them in a clear and concise manner.

Teachers should therefore encourage students to frame answers in their own words and use interactive questioning techniques, such as the Socratic method, to develop critical thinking.

Question No. 5A

This exercise required students to rearrange words to form meaningful sentences. High-performing students handled this task efficiently, whereas slow learners encountered considerable difficulty. Several candidates copied the words without rearranging them, leading to zero scores.

The right answer is Sajid ka ghar bara hai and Humein rozana pani peena chahiye but some answers were as follows:

Bara ghar Sajid ka hai - the structure is not good

Ghar bara Sajid ka hai- the structure is not good

Rozana humein pani peena chahiye- this is also right

Humein pani peena chahiye rozana- this is also right

Regular sentence formation practice can help students overcome such challenges.

Question No. 5B

This question focused on sentence completion using conjunctions such as halanke (حالانکہ), agar (اگر) and aur (اور). Many students produced relevant and well-structured sentences, demonstrating creativity and understanding.

However, some candidates confused the usage of these conjunctions, resulting in illogical sentences. Teachers should provide explicit instruction on conjunctions through examples and structured exercises.

Question No. 6

The cloze test aimed to assess comprehension and contextual understanding. Students with strong reading skills performed well, while others selected answers randomly, indicating weak comprehension abilities.

Continuous practice with similar exercises can help students improve their contextual reading skills.

Question No. 7A

This item tested students' ability to correct underlined words. The overall performance was good, many students performed really well, except for item 5 as they could not write the word چھتری and wrote in different ways wrongly.

Teachers should incorporate such corrective exercises regularly in lesson plans to reinforce grammar accuracy.

Question No. 7B

This section required students to apply correct word forms according to sentence structure. The majority of candidates found this task challenging, including words that were already familiar to them. Spelling errors and incorrect word forms were common, particularly among slow learners.

Increased exposure to both simple and complex vocabulary, along with consistent practice, is essential to strengthen language competence.

They were unable to write dusri from do, some wrote dusra. Since its jamaá therefore the correct word is dusri jamaát.

From surat, the common word was khoobsurat, still candidates faced difficulty to write this word. However, some candidates even wrote badsurat, which is a correct answer.

Question No. 8

This activity assessed sentence construction using given word pairs. While some students demonstrated good sentence formation skills, many struggled with grammatical accuracy and proper word usage. Errors in copying the given words were also observed.

Dictation and guided writing exercises are recommended to address these issues and improve sentence accuracy.

Examples of sentences are enlisted below:

Correct sentences:

ایک دن اسلم اپنے گینڈ سے کھیل رہا تھا۔
پھر وہ زور زور سے رونے لگا کیونکہ اسے درد ہو رہا ہو رہا تھا۔
ایک دن اسلم فٹ بال کھیلتا ہے۔
اچانک وہ گیند کی وجہ سے گرتا ہے۔
ایک دن اسلم فٹ بال کھیلتا ہے۔
اچانک وہ گرتا ہے۔
س روتا ہے۔ پھر زور زور
اس کے بعد ایک دوست اسلم کی مدد کرتا ہے۔
بالآخر وہ گھر جاتے ہیں۔

ایک دن اسلم فٹ بال کھیلتا ہے۔
اچانک وہ گیند کی وجہ سے گرتا ہے۔
پھر وہ زور سے روتا ہے۔
اس کے بعد اپنا دوست اسے مدد کرتا ہے۔
بالآخر میں دونوں گھر لوٹتے ہیں۔

These sentences scored marks as they demonstrate a clear attempt at narrative writing with a logical sequence of events (playing → falling → crying → receiving help → returning home). The learner shows basic use of connectives such as پھر، اچانک، اس کے بعد، بالآخر، which support cohesion. There is evidence of relevant vocabulary related to the context (e.g., بال فٹ، بے روتا، بے گرتا، بال فٹ، مدد).

Despite frequent spelling, grammatical, and repetition errors, meaning is generally understandable. The student also shows emerging control of sentence formation and an ability to construct a simple storyline, which justifies the allocation of marks

Question No. 9

The essay writing task was based on a familiar life-related theme, allowing students to express their creativity and ideas. These essays were well organized and students were able to interact with their ideas and present them logically.

In contrast, slow learners showed limited originality and often reproduced the given material with minimal modification. Frequent grammatical errors further affected their scores. Teachers should regularly assign essay writing tasks, discuss outlines beforehand, and provide constructive feedback to help students improve their writing skills.

Recommendations

Since learners are central to the educational process, it is essential to address their diverse needs. Continuous assessment, timely evaluation, and appropriate remedial measures can significantly enhance learning outcomes. The use of varied teaching aids and strategies such as reading aloud, skimming and scanning, drill exercises, quizzes, and activity-based learning can make language learning more effective and engaging.

Some samples:

Band 1:

چلیے میں آپ کو ایک دلچسپ کہانی سناتی ہوں۔ سنیچر کا دن ہے۔ سوچ نیلے آسمان پر چمک رہا ہے۔ ایک نیک لڑکا ہے جس کا نام اسلم ہے۔ اس کی ماں گھر پر کیک بنانے والی ہیں۔ افسوس کی بات ہے کہ گھر پر آٹا نہیں ہے۔ اسی لئے ماں اسلم بازار جانے کے لئے کو کہتی ہیں۔ اسلم ٹوکری لے کر بازار اکیلا جاتا ہے۔ وہاں بہت بھیڑ ہے۔ وہ سامان خریدتا ہے۔ بدقسمتی سے وہ راستہ بھول جاتا ہے۔ اسلم گھبراتا ہے اور لوگوں کو مدد منگتا ہے۔ خوشقسمتی سے وہ بازار میں اپنی خالہ کو دیکھتا ہے۔ وہ خوشی سے اپنی خالہ کے ساتھ گھر جاتا ہے۔

This essay achieves Band 1 due to its clear and well-structured narrative, with a logical sequence from introduction to resolution. The language is accurate and appropriate, with good control of basic grammar and sentence formation. Ideas are coherently linked, ensuring smooth flow and readability. Vocabulary, though simple, is relevant and effectively used. The engaging opening and use of emotive expressions enhance reader interest. The story demonstrates clear understanding of character, setting, and a complete narrative arc, with consistent tense and perspective throughout.

Band 2:

آج پیر ہے۔ سورج نیلے آسمان میں چمک رہا ہے۔ میری ماں کہتی ہیں۔ ”جلدی کرو تم بازار اکیلے جاؤ گے۔“ میں پیسے لیتی ہوں۔ بازار پہنچنے کے بعد میں سبزیاں خریدتی ہوں۔ بازار بہت بڑا ہے۔ اور بازار میں بہت سارے لوگ ہیں۔ وہاں بھیڑ ہوتی ہے۔ کچھ دیر بعد میں راستہ بھول تی ہوں۔ میں ڈرتی ہوں۔ میرے والدین میرے لئے بہت پریشان ہو گئے۔ میں جلدی جلدی لوگوں سے مدد مانگتی ہوں۔ اچانک ایک آدمی مجھے بولایا ”ساجدہ تم یہاں کیا کر رہے ہو؟“۔ یہ آدمی میرے ماموں جان ہے۔ خوش قسمتی سے وہ

This essay is placed in Band 2 as it shows a generally clear narrative with a logical sequence of events, but lacks the control and accuracy of Band 1. While the storyline is understandable, there are several grammatical errors (e.g., gender agreement, verb forms, spelling such as پے, وہاں, ابنی), which affect overall accuracy. Cohesion is basic, with some repetition and weak transitions between ideas. Vocabulary is simple and sometimes inaccurately used. There is also inconsistency in perspective and expression (e.g., shifts in pronouns and sentence structure). Although the main idea is communicated, the limited development and language inaccuracies prevent it from reaching Band 1.

Band 3:

ایک دن کی بات ہے موسم خوشگوار ہے اور آسمان پر روخو خلمگہ رہا ہے۔ پیر کا دن ہے۔ دس بجے ہے۔ سارا کی ماں بازار اکیلا جاتی ہے۔ وہ بہت خوش ہے۔ سارا کی ماں کا نام ساذیہ ہے۔ ساذیہ وہاں بھیڑ ہوتی ہے۔ وہ راستہ بھول جاتی ہے۔ ماں بہت سبزیاں خریدتی ہے۔ اچانک ایک مدد مانگتا ہے۔ ماں سپتال جاتی ہے۔ وہ بیمار ہے۔ پھر ماں اور سارا گھر جاتی ہیں

This essay is placed in Band 3 due to limited control of language and weak narrative development. Although there is an attempt at a storyline, ideas are poorly organised and lack logical progression. Frequent grammatical, spelling, and vocabulary errors (e.g., خلمگہ روخو، بازار، سپتال) often hinder clarity. Sentence structure is inconsistent and sometimes incomplete, affecting meaning. Cohesion is weak, with abrupt shifts and unclear connections between events. The narrative lacks detail and a clear resolution, demonstrating only a basic and emerging level of writing ability.

Band 4:

لتوار كا دن هے۔ موسم سہانا هے۔ ايك لڑكا هے۔ اس كا نام اسلم هے۔ اسلم بزار اكيلا جاتا هے۔ وهاں ميں ايك بهيڑ هونا هے۔ راسته بهول جاتے هيں۔ وه مدد مانگتا هے۔ تو اسلم اس كي مدد ديا هے۔ واپس گهر جانا۔

This essay is placed in Band 4 due to very limited language control and minimal development of ideas. The narrative is extremely basic, with short, repetitive sentences and an unclear sequence of events. Frequent grammatical and structural errors (e.g., ہے ہونا بھیڑ ایک میں وہاں، بزار، بے دیا مدد) significantly affect clarity. Cohesion is very weak, with little logical connection between sentences. Vocabulary is very limited and often inaccurately used. The piece lacks detail, development, and a clear resolution, reflecting a very basic level of writing.

Band 5:

یہ بازار اکیلا جانا
یہ وہاں بھیڑ ہونا
یہ راستہ بھول جانا
یہ مدد مانگنا
یہ اس کے بعد کیا ہوا؟

This response is placed in Band 5 as it does not demonstrate meaningful narrative writing. The student has copied prompts rather than constructing sentences or a story. The task requirements are not met, and there is no evidence of independent writing, placing it at the lowest band.